dominion, a peculiarity that shows itself in such names as Flying Cloud, Sovereign of the Seas, West Wind, Wild Pigeon, Empress of the Deep and Frightened Lightning. In our opinion, a philosopher could get up quite a truthful history of a people without consulting any other documents than the sterns of their ships — Dutchman.

SATISFACTORILY EXPLAINED.—It has been a subject of frequent notice, that when a Chinaman fits himself out for the mines, he draws his legs into a pair of boots usually four times too large for him. Rev. Mr. Spear, of San Francisco, in his recent lecture on China, gives the following key to unlock the mystery: "Boots are never worn except by gentlemen, which accounts for the eagerness the Chinese usually manifest on his arrival here to get possession of as large a pair as he can conveniently use."
